POMP, CIRCUMSTANCE, AND OTHER SONGS OF A LIFETIME

—by Professor David Citino, 1947-2005, Late University Poet Laureate (Originally presented as the 2000 Winter Commencement address)

If you're like me, you've got a big head,
not to mention a funny robe, full of music—
poems and melodies, the tunes
we move to, shower and shave by,
study, write to. Not just the incidental,

but the momentous music keeping time.
Our histories are measures of song.
Listen to your heart: drums of Africa,
sea-spume of blind, far-sighted Homer, Sappho's honeyed love lyrics. Often,

music speaks for us, one note saying a thousand words. Like Rodolpho in Puccini's La Boheme, Sono un poeta.
I am a poet. Che cosa faccio? What do I do? Scrivo. I write. This ceremony is loud music—pomp and circumstance

of the life you began freshman year
or that first day of graduate school.
In my head I press Play, and the CD
of Big Days kicks on. I leap and linger

over moments too sweet, nearly, for words.
I'll never escape rhymes from the nursery.
Up above the world so high, like a diamond in the sky. We knew from the start our universe was aglow with wonder.

Italian, Latin, English songs in nasal accents
of Cleveland. Gaudeamus igitur, Juvenes dum sumus. So, let us rejoice, while we are young. Youth is that gift we can't comprehend while we're young. This ceremony means you all are less young than you were.

Don't let the heavy knowledge gained from your studies deprive you of the gifts of youth, to be able to rejoice at the drop of a hat, to care for, be moved by others.

Now I hear golden hits of five decades.
Big Mama Thornton, and that so-called King
(King of what, fried butter sandwiches?)
who stole away her hound dog. You ain't never killed a rabbit, you ain't no friend of mine. As with those profs and TAs, course after course, you had to produce—

kill some rabbits—to earn respect.
And at times OSU may have seemed like Heartbreak Hotel, down at the end of Lonely Street, so difficult was it to do your best. Tennessee Ernie Ford,

"Sixteen Tons": St. Peter don't you call me 'Cause I can't go. I owe my soul to the company store.

You have been digging deep in mines of knowledge. We all owe our souls to Ohio State, company store of learning, shared experience—precious ore
we have in common forever.

Now I hear Domenico Modugno's
fervent urging to wish, sing, fly, Volare, Wo-oo. Cantare, Wo-o-o-o.
My grandfather was a peasant farmer,
a contadino in Calabria in the toe of Italy. He knew it's the human lot to dream of flying. *Lucky, lucky,

lucky me, I'm a lucky son-of-a-gun*.
*I work eight hours, I sleep eight hours,
That leaves eight hours for fun*.

Hey! He sailed in steerage across the Atlantic, came to Cleveland, where he stayed long enough to work 52 years
for the B&O Railroad, before lying down to rest in good Ohio soil. So many of us here today came from elsewhere,

or ancestors did. From Tennessee, Italy, Africa, Asia, Appalachia—even,
President Kirwan, the wilds of Kentucky and Maryland. Women and men with backs supple as birch trunks. The courage

it took to pick up stakes and begin again in a new world! Think of the work those older ones did. For you. You all are facing a change right now.

This sheepskin is your passport.
You're bound for emigration to the next song of your life. Ohio State is the ark on which you've been sailing.
You've been the precious cargo.

But, as Noah once said, I can see clearly now the rain is gone. The ark, our university, was filled to overflowing
with the diversity of us. Diversity.
Networks and talk shows devalue the word.

I say, rather, the richness of us,
precious difference, the grand multiplicity
of selves that balance this globe and enable it to spin true. Grandson of peasant immigrants, I was given the opportunity to earn a doctorate in English literature from Ohio State—because my family labored long nights

around the kitchen table trying to learn this arduous English. I sat where you're sitting twenty-six years ago.

Bob Dylan and Smokey Robinson got me
through. Yes, it took a prophet and Miracles!
My son earned an OSU Ph.D. in history.
Now you, graduates, are being honored—

by degrees. We've all come together around the kitchen table of Ohio State.
Ohio, Round on the ends and high in the middle. For the years to come we'll sing together, Beautiful Ohio,

in dreams again I see, Visions of what used to be. These psalms, sacred thoughts of our tribes, 78's and 33's, tapes, CD's—they take up space in shelves of our skulls, our hearts. They remind us

we want a song beyond the run-of-the-mill thrill, the moment throbbing
with pleasure or bathed in the blues.
We ache for something grander than pure selfishness. Songs sung for one alone are not true music. Arias shared are music of the spheres, ways of saying to another something from the soul.

Of course the Buckeye Battle Cry
is there. Drive, drive on down the field,

Men (and women!) of the Scarlet and Gray. Well, you drove on down the field, and you drove up and down the streets, around and around crowded lots, looking for a place to park,

and you searched our dark, ancient library
for a decent place to study. My wife, Mary's, father marched in the first
"Script Ohio," in 1936. He's here today with us, blowing his horn, I can't help

but feel, as is the sweet mother
I lost last year, the one who gave me the stars. Today's music makes us think of the debts we owe, and never can repay.
So many of us would not be here

were it not for the lullabies and songs of dear parents, their parents, theirs.
Some are here today in the flesh.
Many are not. We mourn them with cadences of our hearts. Think how many people sang before us, gave us a name, a voice, taught us the right words. We must cherish them by remembering every song.

When we sing to others, we honor
our fathers and mothers, thank them

for this day of profound scarlet and gray pomp and circumstance. O, come let's sing Ohio's praise, And songs to Alma Mater raise. Alma mater.
Ohio State is our sweet, nurturing mother.

We came of age here, with her help.
*Well, Mother, we love you, but, like,
it's time we moved out, got a place of our own. You're standing there, Mom, gray hair, eyes scarlet* from crying. We won't forget you.

Now, even though this ceremony
means we're being weaned, taken off the nipple, let's take care to cherish her all our days. Let's remember the words to the songs she taught us, and pass them on. We'll remember always, Graduation Day. *Summer's heat,

and winter's cold, The seasons pass,
the years will roll, Time and change*

will surely show How firm thy friendship, O-hi-O. We call that little number Carmen Ohio. Carmen means song in Latin. You've worked hard; she is your reward; today is your reward.

You're filled to overflowing with the notes, the poems we've written together. You know the score.
Continue to work hard for yourselves,
and one another. Find the ones who need you to sing to, for them, in the world.

Graduates, this joyful litany, this hymn
our ancestors collaborated on with us,
the calling of your name today is music to our ears. Sing that name proudly

all your days, as if your life depended on it. It does, you know. It has been an honor for me to speak—and sing—
to you today. Thank you, graduates, and, again, Congratulations.

COMMENCEMENT ADDRESS

Roy R. Romer

Doctor of Public Service

Roy R. Romer is recently retired superintendent of the Los Angeles Unified School District and former three-term governor of Colorado from 1986 to 1998.

A Colorado native, Governor Romer earned his bachelor's degree in agricultural economics from Colorado State University in 1950, his law degree from the University of Colorado in 1952, and studied ethics at Yale University. He worked as a lawyer in the Denver area, helped manage his family's agricultural interests, and became a successful business leader before his election as Colorado's 39th governor. During his tenure, he became the nation's senior Democratic governor and was general chair of the Democratic National Committee from 1997 to 2000.

Governor Romer has long been an advocate for educational issues at the state and national levels. As vice chair of the Democratic Leadership Council, he studied effective educational strategies and school reform initiatives and served as chair of the Educational Commission of the States and the National Education Goals Panel. His ability to build consensus on complex and controversial subjects attracted him to the Los Angeles school district in 2000.

As superintendent, Governor Romer assumed the top leadership role in the nation's second largest public school system. He has focused resources and attention on the issues of instruction and construction of schools. He embarked on ambitious literacy and math plans, including computer-based learning programs, that have raised scores above the national level for the first time in decades. He is working on building small learning communities so students can receive more personalized experiences to improve academic performance and reduce the drop-out rate.

Under his leadership, voters in the district approved the two largest local school bonds in U.S. history, totaling more than $7 billion. Combined with matching state bond funds, the district's construction program is the largest public works program in the nation, providing much-needed new schools and upgrades to existing ones.

RECIPIENTS OF HONORS

T.R. Lakshmanan

Doctor of Science

T.R. Lakshmanan is professor of geography and environment, director of the Center for Transportation Studies, and executive director of the Center for Energy and Environmental Studies at Boston University. He is internationally known for his work in transportation, energy, environmental, housing, and regional planning issues.

Professor Lakshmanan received his B.S. and M.A. degrees from the University of Madras, India, in 1952 and 1953, respectively, before joining the doctoral program in geography at The Ohio State University, receiving his Ph.D. in 1965. From 1962 to 1973, he worked in the private sector with major consulting firms addressing urban and transportation planning issues. During this period, he contributed immensely to the pursuit of urban planning based on large-scale simulations using extensive data and mathematical modeling.

He joined the faculty of Johns Hopkins University in 1973 and, in 1978, moved to Boston University as chair of the Department of Geography. There he organized a number of new programs and priorities, including establishing in 1979 the Center for Energy and Environmental Studies, the first program of its kind in the United States, encompassing multidisciplinary studies focusing on the environment.

In addition to his academic accomplishments, Professor Lakshmanan has a distinguished record of public service, including a four-year appointment by President Bill Clinton as director of the then newly formed Bureau of Transportation Statistics in the Department of Transportation. He has consulted widely for the United Nations and the World Bank; the governments of Canada, China, India, Japan, New Zealand, Puerto Rico, Sweden, Venezuela, and the former Yugoslavia; numerous state and local U.S. governments and governmental agencies; and several national laboratories.

His scholarly research is represented by nine books, nearly 100 journal articles, and numerous "white papers" for policy development. He has served as a visiting scholar at a number of prestigious research/teaching institutions worldwide and is the recipient of the 1989 Anderson Medal of the Association of American Geographers, given periodically to only one honoree.

Douglas D. Osheroff

Doctor of Science

Douglas D. Osheroff is the J.G. Jackson and C.J. Wood Professor of Physics at Stanford University and a co-recipient of the 1996 Nobel Prize for Physics for his discovery of three superfluid phases of liquid helium-3, which are neutral analogs to superconductivity in metals.

Born in the state of Washington, Professor Osheroff received his B.S. degree in physics from the California Institute of Technology in 1967 and his Ph.D. in physics from Cornell in 1973. It was as a graduate student at Cornell that he and his two professors made their historic discovery. After receiving his doctorate, he spent the next 15 years as a member of the technical staff at AT&T Bell Laboratories, where he continued his work on the properties of matter near absolute zero, and served for six years as head of the lab's Low Temperature and Solid State Research Department.

In 1987, Professor Osheroff joined Stanford's faculty, where, in 1991, he received the Gores Award for Excellence in Teaching. He served as chair of Stanford's physics department from 1993 to 1996 and, again, from 2001 to 2004. In 2002, Stanford named him as one of the first eight Stanford University Fellows for Undergraduate Studies.

His current research activities center around quantum fluids, solids, and glasses at ultra-low temperatures and include studies of the five ordered phases of solid and liquid helium-3 as well as the acoustic and dielectric properties of amorphous solid at ultra-low temperatures. His many honors include the American Physical Society's Buckley Prize and the British Research Council's Sir Francis Simon Memorial Prize. In 1981, he was named one of the first 21 MacArthur Prize Fellows. He is a member of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences and the National Academy of Sciences. In 2003, he served as a member of the Columbia Accident Investigation Board, which investigated the cause of the Columbia space shuttle disaster.

Pedro A. Sanchez

Doctor of Science

Pedro A. Sanchez is director of tropical agriculture, senior research scholar, and director of the Millennium Villages Project—all at the Earth Institute of Columbia University in New York City. He also serves as co-chair of the Hunger Task Force of the UN Millennium Project, an advisory body to the United Nations. He is professor emeritus of soil science and forestry at North Carolina State University.

A native of Cuba, Professor Sanchez received his B.S. in agronomy and his M.S. and Ph.D. in soil science from Cornell University and joined the faculty of North Carolina State University in 1968, becoming full professor in 1979. During his tenure at the university, he served as coordinator of various university-sponsored field-based tropical soils programs in Brazil, Peru, Colombia, and Indonesia. He retired from North Carolina State in 1991 to serve for the next 10 years as director general of the International Center for Research in Agroforestry (ICRAF) in Nairobi, Kenya. His contributions at ICRAF earned him the 2002 World Food Prize, an award in agriculture equivalent to the Nobel Prize.

His professional career has been dedicated to improving the management of tropical soils through integrated natural resource management approaches to achieve food security and reduce rural poverty while protecting and enhancing the environment. His book Properties and Management of Soils of the Tropics is the most widely used textbook on this subject throughout the world. He has authored more than 250 scientific articles dealing with the importance of sustainable management of soils in tropical environments, managed by resource-poor, small land holders.

Professor Sanchez was the recipient of a MacArthur Fellowship in 2004 and has been awarded the International Soil Science Award, the International Service in Agronomy Award, and the Crop Science Society of America Presidential Award. He is a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the American Society of Agronomy, and the Soil Science Society of America. He was anointed a Luo elder with the name of Odera Akang'o by the Luo community of Western Kenya in 2001.

Vera J. Blaine

Distinguished Service Award

Vera "Vickie" J. Blaine is professor and chair emerita of The Ohio State University Department of Dance.

Professor Blaine began her career in dance as an undergraduate at Ohio State, earning her B.S. and M.A. degrees before joining the faculty in 1962. In addition, she studied dance professionally at the Martha Graham School of Contemporary Dance and the Merce Cunningham Dance Studio.

She became a full professor in the Department of Dance in 1973 and department chair in 1983. Prior to becoming chair, she served as director of the University Dance Company for 15 years and as major choreographer for the company. During her tenure at Ohio State, she earned a reputation as a leader in dance in academia, shepherding Ohio State's dance program to national renown. The students and choreographers she has mentored through the years have made their mark on professional dance companies throughout the country.

During the 1980s, while serving as vice president, then president of OhioDance, the statewide dance service organization, Professor Blaine spearheaded a successful effort to bring dance education into Ohio's public school curriculum. She secured support for K-12 dance teacher certification in Ohio and led the Department of Dance in offering the state's inaugural K-12 dance teacher education program. The program became a model for dance certification programs across the country.

Her commitment to diversity in the dance program took the form of aggressive recruiting and attention to retention, and she formed partnerships with the Martin Luther King Complex for Performing Arts.

Over the past 10 years, Professor Blaine has collaborated with Karen Bell, dean of the College of the Arts, on a series of duets exploring administrative and personal issues within a performance context. She continues to teach dance composition part-time in the dance department's undergraduate and graduate programs and serves as an independent consultant for higher education dance programs in the United States and abroad.

Edward J. Ray

Distinguished Service Award

Edward J. Ray became president of Oregon State University on July 31, 2003. Prior to this, he served as executive vice president and provost of The Ohio State University.

Dr. Ray earned his B.A. in mathematics in 1966 from Queen's College (CUNY) and his M.A. and Ph.D. in economics in 1969 and 1971, respectively, from Stanford University. He began his 33-year career at Ohio State in 1970 as an assistant professor of economics. Six years later, he became the department chair, building a strong academic and research-oriented base for the department, while simultaneously becoming increasingly active in university-wide committees and activities. He received the Chairperson Recognition Award in 1988.

In 1992, he moved to the Office of Academic Affairs as associate vice provost, then senior vice provost and chief information officer from 1993 to 1998 and executive vice president and provost from 1998 to 2003.

In these administrative roles, Dr. Ray became central to decision making discussions about university-wide policies, working with administrators, deans, chairs, staff, and students. He played a leading role in implementing budgetary decisions, academic restructuring, and emphasizing interdisciplinary studies, earning a reputation for being honest, open, and impartial. The formal academic and diversity plans he helped develop remain fundamental to the university's operation today.

Dr. Ray was also the prime architect of the university's innovative Selective Investment Program that targets resources to the university's strongest academic units to help them achieve national stature. Today, 13 units have received such investment.

In addition to his administrative accomplishments, Dr. Ray brought honor to the university through his scholarship. His research on America's economic interests has been published in leading journals, including The American Economic Review, The Journal of Political Economy, and The Quarterly Journal of Economics. He has coauthored a principles text and his book U.S. Protectionism and the World Debt Crisis was published in 1989.

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY CLASS GIFT PROGRAM

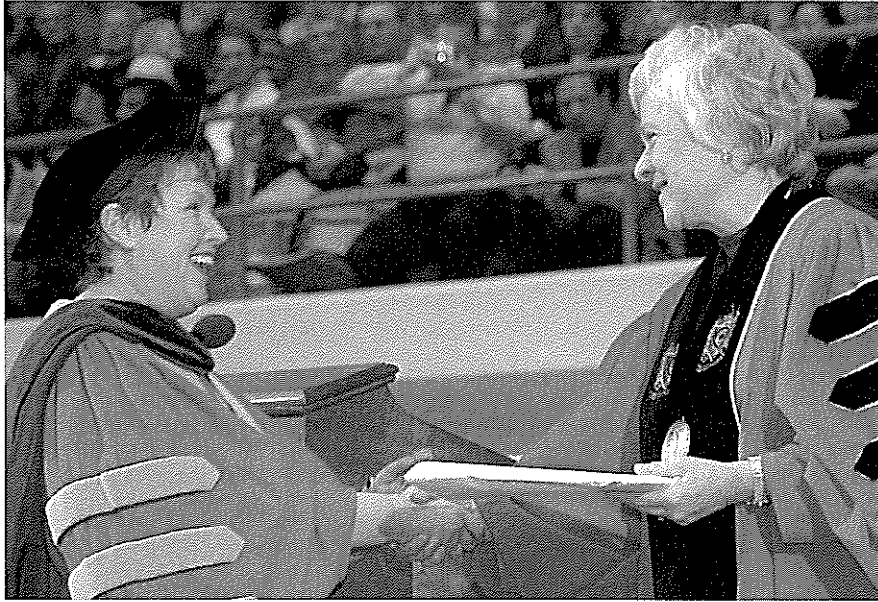

Since 1891, graduating seniors have celebrated their class commencement by making a gift to Ohio State. This gift is a special way for students to commemorate their time spent at Ohio State and a way to support future students at the university.

The Class of 2006 will continue the tradition of leaving a lasting legacy on campus by replacing the benches on the Oval. This gift will enhance the experience of students who enjoy the Oval every day.

The Student Campaign Advisory Board encourages all graduating seniors to make a gift of $20.06 to help replace the benches on the Oval, or to any other project they feel would benefit the university today and for years to come. Students can make their gift online at studentcampaign.osu.edu.

We congratulate the Class of 2006 today and thank them for continuing the tradition of support at The Ohio State University.

A MESSAGE FROM PRESIDENT HOLBROOK

Commencement represents a culmination and celebration of your accomplishments at The Ohio State University. It is the most solemn and yet the most joyous and exhilarating ceremony held at any university. It is a day for academia, family, and friends to gather and share with you their tears and laughter, their love and hope, and their tremendous pride for your many years of hard work and achievement. It is a day you will long remember.

Today, you join a family of more than half a million Ohio State graduates and step into a new world of rich and challenging opportunities. As graduates of The Ohio State University, you have good reason to feel a strong sense of pride and accomplishment—as well as excitement about a promising future. Working with your professors and the university community, you have built a well-rounded education and polished it with relevant experience. Upon this foundation, your education will continue to grow and help you create a lifetime of productivity, personal fulfillment, and civic responsibility.

Through time and change, you will surely remember your years at Ohio State as some of the happiest, most important, and most influential experiences of your life. And I am confident that your firm bonds to this great university will only grow stronger. Please accept my congratulations and personal best wishes on this very special day.

Karen A. Holbrook
President

CONGRATULATIONS AND WELCOME TO THE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

Congratulations on receiving your degree. You may not notice the difference, but today, along with hundreds of your colleagues, you have joined the ranks of Ohio State alumni. For you, one era has passed, and another is about to begin.

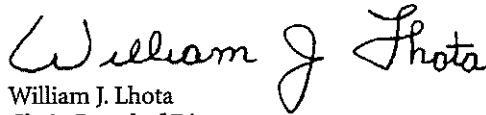

You are a member of the Buckeye family and partner in the enterprise, carrying the reputation of Ohio State through your activities and accomplishments. You exemplify the fruits of a good education: a critical mind, a discerning spirit, higher values, a sense of commitment, and the privilege of service.

You can assist the university in many ways. You can recruit new and highly qualified students. You can represent Ohio State well through personal and occupational achievements. You can participate financially through the Development Fund. And you can work in an advisory capacity with the university to improve it and its programs to better prepare today's students for tomorrow's citizenship.

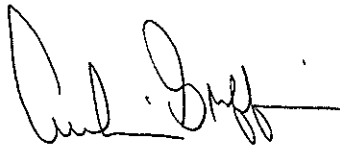

We extend to you a year's complimentary membership in the Alumni Association. Included is a year's subscription to the Ohio State Alumni Magazine, which will keep you informed of the university's continuing pursuit of excellence and help you keep in touch with your friends and classmates.

To you, your family, friends, and all those who helped you reach this day go our best wishes. You are joining a great family of Ohio State alumni working together to make a difference around the world.

This program is not an official graduation list.

This printed program lists students who were eligible to graduate for Autumn Quarter 2006, as of 5:00 p.m., December 1, 2006, pending the outcome of final examinations and final grades. Therefore, it should not be used to determine a student's academic or degree status. The University's official registry for conferral of degrees is the student's permanent academic record, kept by the Office of the University Registrar, 320 Lincoln Tower, 1800 Cannon Drive, Columbus, Ohio 43210.

Colleges of the Arts and Sciences

THE ACADEMIC COSTUME

The colorful ceremonies of The Ohio State University commencements derive from practices originating in the Middle Ages. When European universities were taking form in the 12th and 13th centuries, the scholars were usually clerics, and consequently they adopted costumes similar to those of their monastic orders. Cold halls and drafty buildings called for caps and floor-length capes with attached hoods, and the sobering influence of the church probably influenced the staid character of the caps and gowns.

As the control of the universities gradually passed from the church, some aspects of the costumes took on brighter hues. Old prints and engravings, however, reveal a strong similarity between the regalia worn in early universities and that of the present day.

In light of our nation's English heritage, academic costume has been in use in the United States since colonial times. To establish a standard of uniformity in regard to the practice, an intercollegiate commission was formed to prepare a code for caps, gowns, and hoods that has since been adopted by all academic institutions.

Originally round, the shape of the cap is now the familiar mortarboard square—

a shape which, according to ballad folklore, resembles a scholar's book. Legend also has it that the privilege of wearing a cap was the initial right of a freed Roman slave; the academic cap, therefore, has become a sign of the freedom of scholarship. The flowing gown has become symbolic of the democracy of scholarship, for it covers any dress that might indicate rank or social status. The hood, reserved at The Ohio State University for those receiving doctoral and master's degrees, not only indicates the type of degree, but also is lined with the official colors of the university.

The Gown

Bachelor: The bachelor gown is black, full cut with long pointed sleeves.

Master: The master gown is black, long or short sleeves, with an arc-shaped panel extended for each sleeve.

Doctor: The Ohio State University Doctor of Philosophy gown is scarlet with gray velvet panels on the front and three velvet bars on each sleeve. Other doctor gowns are black with velvet panels and bars, the color of which is distinctive of the field of study.

Honors Emblem

The Ohio State University honors emblem is a scarlet and gray tasseled braid worn over the gown. Students eligible for this curricular honor are those graduating summa cum laude, magna cum laude, cum laude, with distinction, and with honors.

The Hood

Bachelor: Three feet long with a two-inch-wide velvet edging.*

Master: Three and one-half feet long with a three-inch-wide velvet edging.

Doctor: Four feet in length with a five-inch-wide velvet edging and panel at the sides.

The lining of all hoods, which is folded out, bears the official colors of the institution granting the degree. The color of the velvet indicates the field of study.

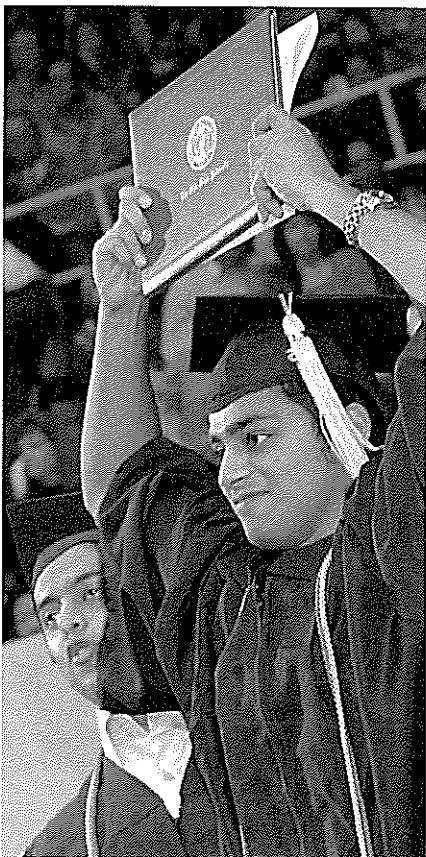

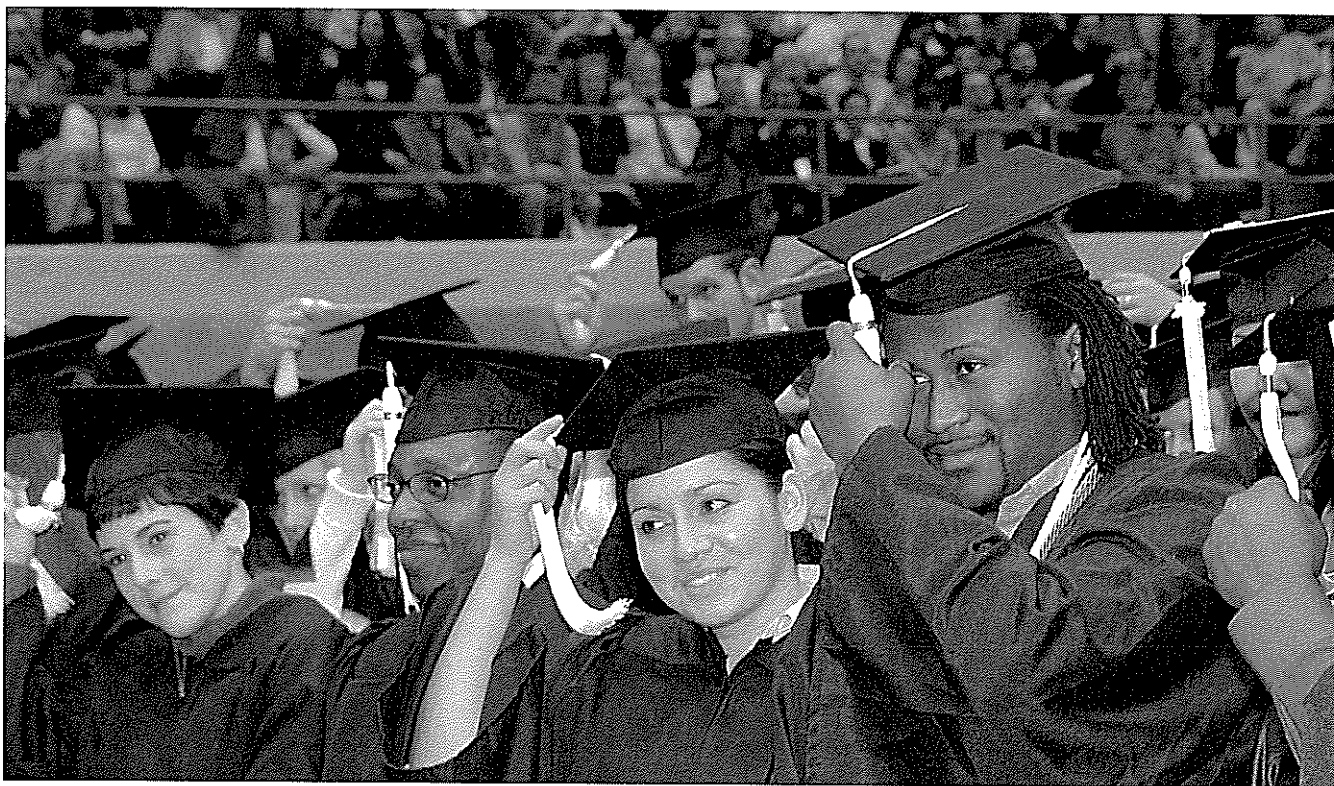

Cap and Tassel

Candidates for degrees at The Ohio State University wear the black mortarboard with a tassel whose color is distinctive of the degree being received. The tassel colors are as follows:

Graduate School (Ph.D.)	Gray
