Edward H. Jennings
Doctor of Humane Letters

Edward H. Jennings' years as president of The Ohio State University have been marked by creativity, adaptability, and achievement. He has provided dynamic leadership during a critical time in the University's history while adhering to the highest ideals of an academic institution.

Jennings became the 10th president of The Ohio State University on September 1, 1981, after two years as president of the University of Wyoming. He also holds an appointment as professor in the Academic Faculty of Finance, a position to which he will return full-time this September. Previously, he was vice president for finance and university services at the University of Iowa, where he was also a faculty member for 10 years.

Born in Minneapolis, Jennings grew up in Washington, D.C. He received a B.S. degree in industrial management from the University of North Carolina in 1959, an M.B.A. degree from Western Reserve University (now Case Western Reserve) in 1963, and a Ph. D. in finance from the University of Michigan in 1969.

Jennings took Ohio State's helm at a time when higher education budgets had been significantly reduced to offset the state's fiscal difficulties. His leadership and expertise provided the decisive action needed to stabilize the University's financial situation. He then set an ambitious course to transform Ohio State into one of the nation's preeminent institutions of higher learning.

With an unwavering commitment to excellence, Jennings provided leadership for the recruitment of outstanding academicians and researchers to the faculty and instilled in existing faculty a renewed sense of pride. He encouraged a better prepared undergraduate student body through selective admissions and advocated for a strengthened undergraduate curriculum with the introduction of a new general education program. He has championed wide-ranging affirmative action programs to bring minorities into the University community.

In 1985, he launched The Ohio State University Campaign, the largest private fund-raising effort ever attempted by a public institution. That campaign, which ends in June, has exceeded its $350 million goal by raising more than $420 million in gifts and pledges for University priorities.

During his tenure, the face of the University has changed. The Wexner Center for the Visual Arts was funded, completed, and opened. The Arthur G. James Cancer Hospital and Research Institute and the Woody Hayes Athletic Center were built, and many other major building or renovation projects were carried out.

Jennings' leadership has extended to local, state, national, and international arenas. He has been a spokesperson for public higher education and land-grant institutions. He is a member of numerous civic and business boards, effecting a mutually beneficial "town-gown" relationship. His interest in global issues has resulted in his leading Ohio State delegations to the People's Republic of China, Taiwan, Spain, Italy, France, and the Dominican Republic.

Through his concern for the present and his vision of the future, Jennings has positioned The Ohio State University to be a model for the comprehensive academic and research institutions of the 21st century. It is with gratitude and pride that Ohio State presents Edward H. Jennings as the 312th commencement speaker.
Recipients of Honors

Helen P. Alkire
Doctor of Education

A pioneer in integrating dance into the context of higher education, Helen P. Alkire is a beacon for new generations of dancers, choreographers, directors, and educators.

After joining the Ohio State faculty in 1946, Alkire took dance from an area within the Department of Physical Education to a fully realized academic discipline in the College of the Arts. After the formation of the Department of Dance in 1968, Alkire served as professor and chair until her retirement in 1983.

Alkire received her B.S.Ed. and M.S. degrees from Ohio State in 1938 and 1939 respectively. She pursued doctoral studies at Columbia University Teachers College and holds professional certificates from Connecticut College and Bennington College. She studied professionally with dancers whose names compile a “Who's Who” of modern dance, including Martha Graham, Doris Humphrey, Louis Horst, Charles Weidman, Hanya Holm, and Jose Limon.

Alkire is a central figure in the development of dance as a significant art form in American education. She envisioned and implemented a dance program founded on performance but broadened through studies in dance history, dance education, and dance research.

Through her diligence and determination, Alkire bridged the gap between the professional and academic worlds, persuading professional dancers and artists to come to Ohio State as faculty members and visiting artists. She recognized the importance of recording, preserving, and reconstructing dance. Ohio State's dance program was the first in higher education, outside of Juilliard, to teach notation.

Alkire is a founding member of the Council of Dance Administrators and played a vital role in the creation of the National Association of Schools of Dance, the only accrediting agency for degree-granting programs in the field. She was instrumental in establishing the American College Dance Festival Association (ACDFA) to recognize performance and choreographic excellence in higher education. This year's ACDFA Northeast Regional Festival was dedicated to her.

Alkire continues to be an energetic spokesperson for the value of dance in higher education. It is a fitting tribute to her that Ohio State continues to have one of the nation's top dance programs. Ohio State is proud to recognize the accomplishments of this remarkable individual.

Hildegard E. Peplau
Doctor of Humane Letters

As a scholar, teacher, clinician, and creative thinker, Hildegard E. Peplau has exerted a profound influence on the science of nursing. Her classic 1952 book, "Interpersonal Relations in Nursing," revolutionized the field by defining the nurse-patient relationship as the essence of nursing practice and the means by which to facilitate the healing process. Widely regarded as the founder of psychiatric nursing, Peplau formulated theories that paved the way for the movement from custodial to therapeutic care in mental hospitals throughout the world.

Peplau is professor emerita and former director of the Graduate Program, Psychiatric Nursing, in the College of Nursing, Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey, where her tenure spanned two decades of teaching, research, and service. Her career began with her 1931 graduation from the Pottstown (Pa.) Hospital Training School for Nurses. She was appointed executive officer of health service at Vermont's Bennington College in 1937 and received a bachelor's degree in interpersonal psychology from Bennington in 1943.

After wartime duty in the Army Nurse Corps, Peplau returned to graduate studies at Teachers College, Columbia University, receiving an M.A. degree in teaching and supervision of psychiatric nursing in 1947 and an Ed.D. degree in curriculum development in 1953. A year later, she was awarded the certificate of psychoanalysis applied to teaching from the William Alanson White Institute in New York City.

Peplau developed and implemented the first graduate program for nurses that focused exclusively on the preparation of clinical specialists in psychiatric nursing. She has lectured extensively throughout the world, and her innovative graduate nursing programs have been widely replicated. In the 1970s, during her two-year term as visiting professor at Katholieke University of Leuven, Belgium, she developed the first post-baccalaureate program in nursing in Europe. She has served three times as a visiting professor in Ohio State's College of Nursing, where she was instrumental in laying the foundation for the college's doctoral program.

Because of her sustained scholarship and clinical excellence, Peplau is deservedly recognized throughout the world as a leader in nursing. Ohio State would like to add its recognition to her many honors.
Recipients of Honors

Charles McMurray, Jr.
Distinguished Service Award

Charles McMurray, Jr., has been a tireless worker on behalf of his alma mater for 40 years. A native of Sandusky, he received his bachelor of science degree in social administration from The Ohio State University in 1950. He served in the United States Navy from 1943 to 1946.

After briefly serving as a cottage parent at Boy's Industrial School in Lancaster and as research supervisor for the State of Ohio's Department of Mental Hygiene, McMurray was named a probation officer and intake supervisor in the Franklin County Court of Domestic Relations, Juvenile Division, a position he held from 1952 to 1968. For the past 23 years he has been with The Ohio Bell Telephone Company, where he now serves as community relations manager.

An active civic, corporate, and alumni leader, McMurray has a special interest in helping minority scholar-athletes. As a key member of the Merrymakers Club of Columbus, he was instrumental in initiating an annual fund-raising event that supports minority scholarships at Ohio State. In addition, he started a resource list of Black families willing to serve as hosts to out-of-state Black athletes.

McMurray's dedication to Ohio State is also evidenced by the service he has given to its Athletic Council for eight years; the Alumni Association as a member of the Alumni Advisory Council for two terms; the WOSU-TV Board of Governors; the University's National Scholarship Fund-Raising Committee; the Office of Minority Affairs Community Advisory Council; the Advisory Committee on Campus Grievances; and the Jesse Owens Foundation.

His civic involvement is extensive and has included membership on the boards of Community Resources for the Encouragement of Economic Resources (CREED), the Columbus Chapter of People United to Save Humanity (PUSH), Columbus Leadership Council, Capital Square Commission, Columbus Urban League, and the American Red Cross.

McMurray's quiet and effective leadership has helped bridge the gap between the Black community and the University, enabling Ohio State to take an active role in minority student recruitment and retention. He has consistently helped Ohio State communicate that the University is firm in its commitment to the well-being of its minority students, faculty, and staff. For these many contributions, Ohio State is pleased to extend this recognition to Charles McMurray, Jr.

Alex Schoenbaum and Betty Frank Schoenbaum
Distinguished Service Award

Alex and Betty Schoenbaum are among Ohio State's most enduring friends and supporters. They have accumulated a long and distinguished record of service to the University that has consistently exceeded all expectations.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Schoenbaum attended Ohio State's College of Business; Mr. Schoenbaum graduated in 1939 with a bachelor of science degree. Although they reside in Charleston, West Virginia and Longboat Key, Florida, the Schoenbaums have retained close ties to the University where they met. Alex and the former Betty Jane Frank were married in 1940 and have four grown children.

Together the Schoenbaums have provided inspiration and leadership to The Ohio State University Campaign. Mr. Schoenbaum has served as director of the Development Foundation Board, director of the University Foundation, and is currently a member of the National Steering Committee. They are each members of the Presidents Cabinet, the highest recognition level within the Presidents Club.

The Schoenbaums have lent their support to widely divergent areas at Ohio State, but their focus has always been the students. They share a deep commitment to academic excellence at their alma mater by ensuring opportunities for promising students to attend Ohio State. Toward this end, they have established the Schoenbaum Scholarship Program to benefit students in the colleges of Business and Education. A fund established in 1966 supports graduate instruction and research in business administration.

Mr. Schoenbaum, who lettered as a varsity football player in 1936, 1937, and 1939, serves as volunteer national chair of Ohio State's Campaign for Athletic Excellence and was instrumental in the funding of the new Woody Hayes Athletic Center.

Mr. Schoenbaum is founder and retired senior chairman of the board of Shoney's Inc., a restaurant chain located throughout the Southeast, West, and Midwest.

The Schoenbaums' generosity extends beyond the University community to include numerous civic, charitable, and philanthropic activities, including the Schoenbaum Park Project in Charleston, West Virginia; the Betty and Alex Schoenbaum Human Services Center in Sarasota, Florida; the City of Hope Medical Center in California; the federated Jewish Charities of West Virginia; and the Sarasota Jewish Federation.

Through their enthusiasm and willingness to invest time and talent, Alex and Betty Schoenbaum define the ideals of volunteer service. Ohio State proudly recognizes their high standard of leadership.
Recipients of Honors

James Vaughn Warren
Distinguished Service Award

For nearly half a century, James Vaughn Warren was regarded as one of the nation’s most respected medical educators and researchers. His pioneering work in cardiovascular research laid the basis for much of today’s cardiology.

A native of Columbus, Warren received his B.A. degree from Ohio State in 1935, graduated from Harvard Medical School in 1939, and completed his residency and research fellowship at Boston’s Peter Bent Brigham Hospital. He taught medicine at Emory University Medical School, where he served as chair of the department of physiology; at Yale University Medical School; at Duke University; and at the University of Texas Medical School, where he was chair of the department of medicine.

In 1961, he returned to Ohio State to become professor and chair of medicine. He stepped down as chair in 1979, but continued as professor until 1986 when he assumed emeritus status. After his retirement, he volunteered his administrative time as director of the Medical Humanities Program, an area that has since expanded to teach and enhance interpersonal skills for future physicians.

One of Warren’s most notable and enduring research efforts, carried out with his colleague Dr. Eugene A. Stead Jr., defined the mechanisms of congestive heart failure. Other research focused on the mechanisms of shock, cardiac arrhythmias, and sudden death. In the 1940s, Warren became one of the first physicians to use cardiac catheterization for diagnostic purposes.

A prolific writer, his contributions to medical journals number in the hundreds, and he authored several books for the general public, including Surviving Your Heart Attack, which won the American Heart Association’s Blakeslee Award in 1985. He served as president of the American Heart Association in 1961.

He has received numerous honors and awards, including the city of Columbus’ Christopher Columbus Award, which recognized his work in training Columbus firemen in emergency medical procedures.

Through his clinical expertise, his brilliant research, and his abiding interest in humanity, Warren enriched Ohio State’s Department of Internal Medicine, enabling it to become one of the nation’s outstanding teaching departments.

Dr. Warren passed away in February of this year, and the University is proud to posthumously honor him with its Distinguished Service Award.
Congratulations and Welcome to the Alumni Association

Congratulations on receiving your degree. You may not notice the difference, but today, along with hundreds of your colleagues, you’ve become an alumnus. For you, one era has passed, another is about to begin.

You are a member of the Buckeye family and partner in the enterprise, carrying the reputation of Ohio State through your activities and accomplishments. You exemplify the fruits of a good education: a critical mind, a discerning spirit, higher values, a sense of commitment, and the privilege of service.

You can assist the University in many ways. You can recruit new and highly qualified students. You can represent Ohio State well through personal and occupational achievements. You can participate financially through the Development Fund. And you can work in an advisory capacity with the University to improve itself and its programs to better prepare today’s students for tomorrow’s citizenship.

We extend to you a year’s complimentary membership in the Alumni Association. Included is a year’s subscription to the Ohio State Alumni Magazine, which will keep you informed of the University’s continuing pursuit of excellence and help you keep in touch with your friends and classmates.

To you, your family, friends, and those others who helped you arrive here today go our best wishes. You are joining a great family of Ohio State alumni working together to make a difference around the world.

Cordially,

C. William Swank

This program is not an official graduation list.

While every effort is made to ensure accuracy in this commencement program, printing deadlines sometimes prevent inclusion of graduates' names, or may result in use of names of persons not completing graduation requirements. This printed program, therefore, should not be used to determine a student's academic or degree status. The University's official registry for conferral of degrees is the student's permanent academic record, kept by the Office of the University Registrar, 202 Lincoln Tower, 1800 Cannon Drive, Columbus, OH 43210-1230.

The Academic Costume

The colorful ceremonies of The Ohio State University Commencements derive from practices originating in the Middle Ages. When European universities were taking form in the 12th and 13th centuries, the scholars were usually clerics, and consequently they adopted costumes similar to those of their monastic orders. Cold halls and drafty buildings called for caps and floor-length capes with attached hoods, and the sobering influence of the church probably influenced the staid character of the caps and gowns.

As the control of the universities gradually passed from the church, some aspects of the costumes took on brighter hues. Old prints and engravings, however, reveal a strong similarity between the regalia worn in early universities and that of the present day.

In the light of our nation's English heritage, academic costume has been in use in the United States since colonial times. To establish a standard of uniformity in regard to the practice, an intercollegiate commission was formed to prepare a code for caps, gowns, and hoods that has since been adopted by all academic institutions.

Originally round, the shape of the cap is now the familiar mortarboard square—a shape which, according to ballad folklore, resembles a scholar's book. Legend also has it that the privilege of wearing a cap was the initial right of a freed Roman slave; the academic cap, therefore, has become a sign of the freedom of scholarship. The flowing gown has become symbolic of the democracy of scholarship for it covers any dress that might indicate rank or social status. The hood, reserved at The Ohio State University for those receiving doctoral degrees, not only indicates the type of degree, but also is lined with the official colors of the University.

The Gown

Bachelor. Black, full cut with long pointed sleeves.
Master. Black, long or short sleeves with a re-shaped panel extended for each sleeve.
Doctor. Black with velvet panels on front of gown and three velvet bars on each sleeve. Color of the velvet may be black or distinctive of the field of study.

The Hood

Bachelor. Three feet long with a two-inch-wide velvet edging.*
Master. Three and one-half feet long with a three-inch-wide velvet edging.*
Doctor. Four feet in length with a five-inch-wide velvet edging and panel at the sides.
* Not usually worn by candidates for a degree.

The lining of all hoods, which is folded out, bears the official colors of the institution granting the degree. The color of the velvet indicates the field of study:

- Dentistry: Lilac
