Alma Mater—Carmen Ohio
Graduates and guests led by
Melinda A. Green
Class of 1993

Oh! come let’s sing Ohio’s praise,
And songs to Alma Mater raise;
While our hearts rebounding thrill,
With joy which death alone can still.
Summer’s heat or Winter’s cold,
The seasons pass, the years will roll;
Time and change will surely show
How firm thy friendship—Ohio.

Commencement Address

Leonard Downie, Jr.
Doctor of Humane Letters

Leonard Downie, Jr., named executive editor of The Washington Post in 1991, holds one of the most prominent positions in American journalism today.

Born and raised in Cleveland, Ohio and a 1964 graduate of Ohio State, Mr. Downie served as sports editor, editorial page editor, and managing editor for the Lantern and as assistant editor of The Ohio State University Monthly from 1963-64. Following his graduation, he worked as a summer intern at the Post before returning to the university to obtain his master's degree in journalism and political science. He rejoined the Post's staff in 1965 and, within a few years, became one of the best known local investigative reporters in Washington, specializing in crime, courts, housing, urban affairs, and investigative reporting.

He worked on the Metropolitan section staff for 15 years, supervising its coverage of the Watergate political scandal and serving as assistant managing editor for metropolitan news from 1974 to 1979. In 1979 he was named London correspondent and returned to Washington in 1982 as national editor. In 1984 he became managing editor.

Mr. Downie's expertise in investigative reporting was recognized with two Washington-Baltimore Newspaper Guild Front Page Awards. He is also the recipient of the American Bar Association Gavel Award for legal reporting and the John Hancock Award for excellence in business and financial writing.

In 1971-72 he spent a year on leave from the Post on an Alicia Patterson Foundation fellowship, studying urban problems in the United States and Europe. He is the author of three books: Justice Denied (1971), a study of court reform; Mortgage on America (1974), a look at speculative real estate deals; and The New Hucksters (1976), which studies investigative reporting. He was also a major contributor to Ten Blocks from the White House: Anatomy of the Washington Riots of 1968.

A resident of Washington, D.C., Mr. Downie is president of the Board of Trustees of Georgetown Day School and chair of the Advisory Council of Ohio State's School of Journalism.

Ohio State welcomes one of its own distinguished graduates back to address its graduating class.
Recipients of Honors

Frank Ellis
Doctor of Science

An accomplished scientist, clinician, and teacher, Frank Ellis has earned a place of honor in the annals of radiology.

Dr. Ellis received his medical degree in 1929 from the University of Sheffield and continued his studies in a newly emerging field, which has subsequently grown into the specialty of radiation oncology. In 1931, he set up the Sheffield Radiotherapy Centre, which became the prototype for other such units in Great Britain.

In 1943, he became director of the radiotherapy department at London Hospital, a post he held until 1950. That year, he became director of the radiotherapy department at the United Oxford Hospitals and lecturer at Oxford University until he retired in 1970.

Following his retirement, Dr. Ellis went to the United States, where he served as senior consultant to two leading cancer hospitals: M.D. Anderson Hospital in Houston and Memorial Sloan Kettering Hospital in New York. He also held posts at the University of Southern California, the Medical College of Wisconsin, Cornell University, and the United Hospitals of Newark, N.J.

His pioneering contributions to the field of radiology are numerous. With the early equipment available to him and his vast knowledge of physiology, biology, and physics, he invented many techniques that became standards of practice. Dr. Ellis developed the concept of Nominal Standard Dose (NSD), which related the tolerance to radiation therapy to the number of fractions used and the time elapsed for treatment, a calculation still in use today.

He has been a pioneer in the development of interstitial radiation therapy (Brachytherapy) and introduced the use of flexible radioactive wires that could be inserted into a patient. Dr. Ellis published his findings immediately in the open scientific literature so that all might benefit. He is a superb teacher, having trained a number of outstanding radiation therapists and radiation biologists.

Dr. Ellis has been widely recognized for his work, both in Great Britain and the United States. His many awards include the gold medal of the Royal College of Radiologists.

Ohio State is pleased to recognize the vast contributions of this imaginative and impressive healer and scholar.

Hideo Sasaki
Doctor of Fine Arts

Internationally recognized as the leading landscape architect of the twentieth century, Hideo Sasaki made an indelible impression on the American vista.

A California native, he is a graduate of the University of Illinois and received his graduate degree in landscape architecture from Harvard University Graduate School of Design. In 1950, he joined the faculty at Harvard and served as chair of the Department of Landscape Architecture from 1958 to 1968.

During his tenure at Harvard, he founded Sasaki Associates Inc. of Watertown, Massachusetts, grounded in Mr. Sasaki's emphasis on relating the site to its environment and surroundings. Today, Sasaki Associates, with a staff of more than 200, is the largest landscape architecture firm in the world and has been responsible for such classic projects as the headquarters of PepsiCo, Constitution Plaza in Hartford, Conn., The University of Colorado–Boulder, and Foothills Community College in California.

As an educator, Mr. Sasaki has transformed the profession of landscape architecture through his chairmanship at Harvard where he synthesized theory and aesthetics and integrated teaching with practice. Today, more than 30 percent of landscape architecture academics were trained by Mr. Sasaki.

Mr. Sasaki was appointed to the United States Commission of Fine Arts by both John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson. His career has been marked by service on many distinguished panels, juries, and design review committees. He was a juror for the Vietnam Memorial Competition, the Astronaut Memorial Competition, and the Peace Garden Competition.

In 1971 he was the first recipient of the American Society of Landscape Architect's medal, and two years later he received the Allied Professions Medal from the American Institute of Architects. These are each profession's highest awards.

Ohio State is proud to recognize the extraordinary sensitivity and artistry of this distinguished gentleman who has enriched our lives with so many beautiful outdoor settings.

Dr. Ellis was nominated for the honorary degree by the Department of Pathology.

Mr. Sasaki was nominated for the honorary degree by the School of Architecture.
Recipients of Honors

William H. Sweet
Doctor of Science

The intricacies of the human brain and nervous system have been the life's work of William Sweet, Emeritus Professor of Surgery at Harvard Medical School and senior neurosurgeon at Massachusetts General Hospital. Dr. Sweet received his undergraduate degree from the University of Washington in 1930. He attended Oxford University as a Rhodes Scholar and obtained his medical degree from Harvard University in 1936. In 1940 he was appointed assistant professor of neurosurgery at Harvard Medical School. Except for the period during World War II when he served as consultant to the British Emergency Medical Service and as acting chief of neurological service at Birmingham (England) United Hospital, he has been associated with Harvard Medical School and Massachusetts General Hospital (MGH) for most of his professional career.

Dr. Sweet has made seminal contributions to the understanding of the mechanisms and neurosurgical treatment of pain. His book on pain management is considered to be a classic and continues to be used in medical training programs.

He has carried out pioneering investigations on the use of radioisotopes to study the circulation of cerebral spinal fluid and the localization of brain tumors by means of brain scanning at a time when more sophisticated imaging techniques were yet unknown. He has also developed a new method to treat brain tumors called Boron Neutron Capture Theory (BNCT) some 30 years ago. Although still experimental, BNCT and its potential as a life-saving therapy is under active investigation at Ohio State and throughout the world by Dr. Sweet's colleagues and students.

Dr. Sweet has been honored with membership in all the leading scientific societies and has received all the special honors that are available in the field of neurosurgery. An invited lecturer throughout the world, he has an impressive list of publications and has served as editor of several prestigious medical journals.

It is with great pride that Ohio State recognizes the many contributions of this distinguished scientist, clinician, and scholar.

Shirley Dunlap Bowser
Distinguished Service Award

During her nine-year tenure as a member of The Ohio State University Board of Trustees, Shirley Dunlap Bowser was, and continues to be, a tireless advocate for her university.

A native of Williamsport, Mrs. Bowser was awarded a bachelor of science in education from Ohio State in 1956, continuing a long family tradition. Her grandfather and his first cousin played Buckeye football in the 1890s. Her father, John H. Dunlap, Jr., and mother, Ellen, met on campus as students in the 1920s, and her brother and sister are also alumni. In addition, her father served as an Ohio State trustee from 1968 to 1975.

Mrs. Bowser was appointed to the Board of Trustees by Governor James A. Rhodes in 1982 and served as chairperson of the board from 1990 to 1991. As a member of the Board of Trustees, she served as the board's representative to the University Hospitals' board and was recently appointed a citizen member. She also currently serves on The Ohio State University Managing for the Future Task Force and the development campaign committee for the new Alumni House. She was named a trustee of the W.K. Kellogg Foundation in 1986 and is a member of the Ohio 4-H Foundation Board of Directors.

She was appointed by Governor Rhodes to the Recreation and Resources Commission of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources in 1977. She has served as supervisor of the Pickaway County Soil and Water Conservation District and the Pickaway County Planning Commission. She is former president of the Circleville Child Conservation League, a charter member of the Circleville Branch of the American Association of University Women, and a member of the Ohio State University Presidents Club. A past president and member of the Westfall Board of Education, she works as media librarian for the elementary schools in the Westfall Local School District.

As a board member, Mrs. Bowser made a concerted effort to attend as many campus functions as possible, meeting students, faculty, and staff. She set a precedent by appointing a student as chair of the board's Student Affairs Committee.

It is with deep respect that Ohio State gratefully recognizes the many years of service and commitment freely given by this special friend of the university.

Dr. Sweet was nominated for the honorary degree by the Division of Neurological Surgery.

Mrs. Bowser was nominated for the Distinguished Service Award by the College of Agriculture.
The Academy of Teaching

The Academy of Teaching represents excellence in teaching and reflects Ohio State's commitment to quality education. Membership in the Academy of Teaching is a great honor, reserved for those recipients of the Alumni Award for Distinguished Teaching who are active faculty at the university. Its members are charged with promoting, enhancing, and recognizing good teaching. Their projects include mentoring young faculty members, helping prepare graduate students for the teaching ranks, serving as consultants and reviewers for departments, and advising the president and the chief academic officers on important issues relating to teaching.

1993 Recipients of the Alumni Award for Distinguished Teaching

Robert W. Backoff
Professor
School of Public Policy and Management

Professor Backoff specializes in and teaches strategic management, strategic leadership, and public organization theory. He takes a student-centered approach in the classroom and gives his students experiential learning opportunities to help them bring out their capabilities and competencies.

An Ohio State faculty member since 1973, Professor Backoff holds a bachelor's degree in political science from the University of Illinois, a master's degree in international relations from John Hopkins University, and a doctorate in political science from Indiana University.

Lawrence A. Brown
Professor
Department of Geography

Professor Brown teaches world regional geography, geography of development, and various seminars. He personalizes his classes by learning each student's name and setting up student-to-student tutoring programs to help those having difficulty with the material. He says he is motivated to help marginal students because he was considered one himself as a youth.

A former recipient of the Distinguished Scholar Award, Professor Brown has been an Ohio State faculty member for 25 years. He holds doctoral and master's degrees from Northwestern University and a bachelor's degree from the University of Pennsylvania (Wharton School).

Philip T.K. Daniel
Associate Professor
Department of Educational Policy and Leadership
Adjunct Professor, College of Law

Professor Daniel teaches legal research in education; courses in the legal aspects of higher education administration, school administration, and special education; and a seminar in the law and education. He uses a reflective, or critical thinking, method to teach students who are preparing to become educational administrators, lawyers, or both.

A faculty member at Ohio State since 1990, Professor Daniel formerly taught at Northern Illinois and Kent State universities. He holds a bachelor's degree in history from Cheyney State University, master's and doctoral degrees in education from the University of Illinois, and a law degree from Northern Illinois.

Thomas W. Foster
Assistant Professor (Mansfield Campus)
Department of Sociology

Professor Foster teaches introductory sociology, criminal justice, criminology, sociology of law, and social deviance. He shares his experiences from past work and his research in criminal justice among the Amish, augmenting his lectures with guest speakers, field trips, story telling, tapes, articles, and informative handouts.

Professor Foster has been on the Ohio State faculty since 1978. His bachelor's degree in psychology was earned at the University of Illinois, and he holds two degrees in sociology/criminology—a master's from Bowling Green State University, and a doctorate from Ohio State.
The Academy of Teaching

Patricia A. Lather
Associate Professor
Department of Educational Policy and Leadership

Professor Lather teaches a three-course sequence in qualitative research and education to mostly doctoral students in education. She immerses students in the competing discourses that constitute inquiry in the human sciences, and assigns journal readings to encourage her students to question, challenge positions, and pose arguments.

Professor Lather, who holds a bachelor's degree in English from South Dakota State University, earned her master's degree in American studies from Purdue University and her doctorate in curriculum and instruction from Indiana University. She has been a faculty member at Ohio State for five years.

Valerie B. Lee
Associate Professor
Department of English and Center for Women's Studies

Professor Lee teaches courses on women writers of the Harlem Renaissance, female neo-slave narratives, Black women's theory, folklore and Black literature, and African-American women writers. Students give her high marks for enthusiasm, encouraging shy pupils, and putting students of different races and cultures at ease while discussing sensitive issues.

Professor Lee joined Ohio State in 1991 after teaching at Denison University for 15 years. She has a bachelor's degree from Atlantic Union College, a master's degree from Andrews University, and a doctorate in English from Ohio State.

Emmalou Van Tilburg Norland
Associate Professor
Department of Agricultural Education

Professor Norland instructs graduate students in instrumentation and procedures for data collection, methods of teaching agriculture, and continuing education in agriculture. She also conducts a research seminar. Her clarity of instruction, creativity, and diversity of teaching methods have drawn students from more than 30 departments to her classes.

Professor Norland, a faculty member since 1985, has also worked for The Ohio State University Extension. She has an associate's degree in recreation and wildlife from Hocking Technical College, a bachelor's degree in public affairs and community service from the University of Toledo, and master's and doctoral degrees in extension education from Ohio State.

Frank E. Poirier
Professor
Department of Anthropology

Professor Poirier, who also chairs the Department of Anthropology, initiated the present course of study in physical anthropology at the university. He teaches introductory physical anthropology, human evolution, and primate behavior. He enriches his classes with slides, fossil casts, and films made during his own extensive fieldwork. He also employs humor and encourages questions from students.

Author of three textbooks and an Ohio State faculty member since 1968, Professor Poirier holds a bachelor's degree in social sciences and biology from Paterson State College, and master's and doctoral degrees in anthropology from the University of Oregon.
Congratulations and Welcome to the Alumni Association

Congratulations on receiving your degree. You may not notice the difference, but today, along with hundreds of your colleagues, you've become an alumnus. For you, one era has passed, another is about to begin.

You are a member of the Buckeye family and partner in the enterprise, carrying the reputation of Ohio State through your activities and accomplishments. You exemplify the fruits of a good education: a critical mind, a discerning spirit, higher values, a sense of commitment, and the privilege of service.

You can assist the University in many ways. You can recruit new and highly qualified students. You can represent Ohio State well through personal and occupational achievements. You can participate financially through the Development Fund. And you can work in an advisory capacity with the University to improve itself and its programs to better prepare today's students for tomorrow's citizenship.

We extend to you a year's complimentary membership in the Alumni Association. Included is a year's subscription to the Ohio State Alumni Magazine, which will keep you informed of the University's continuing pursuit of excellence and help you keep in touch with your friends and classmates.

To you, your family, friends, and those others who helped you arrive here today go our best wishes. You are joining a great family of Ohio State alumni working together to make a difference around the world.

Cordially,

John T. Eby

This program is not an official graduation list

While every effort is made to ensure accuracy in this commencement program, printing deadlines sometimes prevent inclusion of graduates’ names, or may result in use of names of persons not completing graduation requirements. This printed program, therefore, should not be used to determine a student’s academic or degree status. The University’s official registry for conferral of degrees is the student’s permanent academic record, kept by the Office of The University Registrar, 202 Lincoln Tower, 1800 Cannon Drive, Columbus, Ohio 43210.

The Academic Costume

The colorful ceremonies of The Ohio State University Commencements derive from practices originating in the Middle Ages. When European universities were taking form in the 12th and 13th centuries, the scholars were usually clerics, and consequently they adopted costumes similar to those of their monastic orders. Cold halls and drafty buildings called for caps and floor-length capes with attached hoods, and the sobering influence of the church probably influenced the staid character of the caps and gowns.

As the control of the universities gradually passed from the church, some aspects of the costumes took on brighter hues. Old prints and engravings, however, reveal a strong similarity between the regalia worn in early universities and that of the present day.

In the light of our nation’s English heritage, academic costume has been in use in the United States since colonial times. To establish a standard of uniformity in regard to the practice, an intercollegiate commission was formed to prepare a code for caps, gowns, and hoods that has since been adopted by all academic institutions.

Originally round, the shape of the cap is now the familiar mortarboard square—a shape which, according to ballad folklore, resembles a scholar’s book.

Legend also has it that the privilege of wearing a cap was the initial right of a freed Roman slave; the academic cap, therefore, has become a sign of the freedom of scholarship. The flowing gown has become symbolic of the democracy of scholarship for it covers any dress that might indicate rank or social status. The hood, reserved at The Ohio State University for those receiving doctoral degrees, not only indicates the type of degree, but also is lined with the official colors of the University.

The Gown

Bachelor. Black, full cut with long pointed sleeves.
Master. Black, long or short sleeves with a re-shaped panel extended for each sleeve.
Doctor. Black with velvet panels on front of gown and three velvet bars on each sleeve. Color of the velvet may be black or distinctive of the field of study.

The Hood

Bachelor. Three feet long with a two-inch-wide velvet edging.*
Master. Three and one-half feet long with a three-inch-wide velvet edging.*
Doctor. Four feet in length with a five-inch-wide velvet edging and panel at the sides.

* Not usually worn by candidates for a degree.

The lining of all hoods, which is folded out, bears the official colors of the institution granting the degree. The color of the velvet indicates the field of study:

Dentistry Lilac
Law Purple
Medicine Green
Musical Arts Pink
Optometry Sea-foam Green
Pharmacy Olive Green
Philosophy Dark Blue
Veterinary Medicine Gray

Cap and Tassel

Candidates for degrees at The Ohio State University wear the black mortarboard with a tassel whose color is distinctive of the degree being received. The tassel colors are as follows:

Graduate School Black

The gold tassel is worn frequently by those holding the doctoral degree and by college and University administrative officers.
Honors Emblem

The Ohio State University honors emblem is a scarlet and gray tasseled braid worn over the gown. Students eligible for this curricular honor are those graduating Summa Cum Laude, Magna Cum Laude, Cum Laude, With Distinction, With Honors in the Liberal Arts, and With Honors in Pharmacy.

Photographs

As a courtesy to those persons receiving degrees today, please remain seated in the stands until the graduates have received their diplomas and have moved past the stadium gates. Photographs may be taken from the stands at any time during the ceremony. However, only press photographers will be permitted on the field.

Complimentary Programs

A limited number of programs are available on a first-come, first-served basis. Requests should be sent to the Office of Commencement and Special Events, 1120 Lincoln Tower, 1800 Cannon Drive, Columbus, OH 43210-1230.
