Alma Mater—Carmen Ohio
Graduates and guests led by
Margaret Virginia Millit
Class of 1988

Oh! come let’s sing Ohio’s praise,
And songs to Alma Mater raise;
While our hearts rebounding thrill,
With joy which death alone can still.
Summer’s heat or Winter’s cold,
The seasons pass, the years will roll;
Time and change will surely show
How firm thy friendship—Ohio.

Frank W. Hale, Jr.

Frank W. Hale, Jr. is special assistant to the president, vice provost for Minority Affairs, and professor of communication at The Ohio State University.

He is a graduate of the University of Nebraska, where he received both the A.B. and M.A. degrees in communication, political science, and English in 1950 and 1951 respectively. Hale earned a Ph.D. in communication and political science from Ohio State in 1955. He did postgraduate work in England and in 1960 was awarded an honorary Doctor of Humanities degree from Wilberforce University.

Hale was president of Oakwood College in Huntsville, Alabama before coming to Ohio State. From 1971-78, he was associate dean and chairperson of the Fellowship Committee of the Ohio State Graduate School, where he initiated the Graduate and Professional Schools Visitation Days Program. This program has awarded fellowships to over 1,200 minority students and led over 80 percent of them to earn advanced degrees. Hale also founded the Minority Scholars Program in 1982.

Hale has written four books: A Manual of Public Speaking, Sunlight and Shadows, The Cry for Freedom, and They Came and They Conquered. He has also written nearly 50 professional articles.

Hale has served as vice provost since 1978 and has sponsored a variety of development and support programs for minority students and staff including Martin Luther King Week activities, art exhibits, staff development seminars, and student financial support projects. His office has assisted approximately 4,000 minority students through its Freshman Foundation Program. During Hale's tenure, two government-funded programs have been established in Minority Affairs: Upward Bound and the Research Apprenticeship Program.

Frank Hale has a strong commitment to the education of minority students and has turned his beliefs into actions. He has been instrumental in programs at Ohio State to give minority students the opportunities to achieve their goals. Ohio State is proud to have such a distinguished educator as speaker for this 305th Commencement.
Recipients of Honors

Richard M. Morrow
Doctor of Engineering

Richard Morrow, an Ohio State alumnus, has made extraordinary contributions to improve the United States and world energy supply while making Amoco Corporation one of the leading energy companies in the world. Over a span of 30 years, he has been instrumental in bringing into production off-shore oil and gas fields found under the most severe environmental conditions—from the ice flows of Alaska to the heat and sands of the Persian Gulf. The success of these projects will influence oil production for years to come. Morrow has played a key role in making Amoco an international petroleum company with an outstanding record in off-shore and international oil and gas production.

His technical versatility and outstanding management skills were recognized by his promotion to executive vice president of Amoco Chemical Corporation. In 1978, he was named president of the parent company, Amoco Corporation, and five years later was named chairman of the board and chief executive officer.

For his technical and managerial expertise in oil field production and reservoir engineering and his managerial leadership in the chemical and energy industries, Morrow was elected to the National Academy of Engineering, one of the highest honors conferred upon an engineer.

Beyond his notable achievements as an engineer and corporate leader, Morrow has devoted considerable time and talent to public service, as shown by his active involvement as a trustee of the University of Chicago and Rush-Presbyterian-St. Luke’s Medical Center, as well as the United Way of Chicago and the United Way of America. Morrow is more than just a nominal member of several service agencies—he personally gets involved and sets an example for others.

Richard M. Morrow is a person who has broad interests, a compassion for people, and a sense of commitment to human progress which brings distinction to himself and his alma mater. It is with great pride that Ohio State confers upon him this honorary degree.

Raymond S. Bugno
Distinguished Service Award

Raymond Bugno has devoted his entire career to The Ohio State University. Within a span of over 40 years, he has served under five University presidents and four executive directors of the Research Foundation. For nearly 20 years (the last four serving as deputy director of the Office of Sponsored Programs Administration), Bugno has been responsible for the Administration and Services Division. His responsibilities include the management of administrative staff who ensure that research projects are accomplished within the sponsors and the University’s policies, as well as maintaining good working relationships with faculty researchers.

One of Bugno’s former supervisors describes him as “a rare individual with a complete mastery of bureaucratic details”—details that kept getting more complex as years went by. He has been an exceptional source of information on all aspects of extramural funding and has always been willing to gather additional information about procedures and federal policy. His mastery of details, though, was always in the service of procuring, not obstructing research. Bugno’s sincere concern was for faculty members and students affected by the Research Foundation’s operations.

Bugno has been both a continuing student and teacher in the complex and rapidly changing world of the Research Foundation. He has served his profession at the national level by his memberships in the National Contract Management Association, the Committee on Governmental Relations, and the Society of Research Administrators while sustaining Ohio State’s reputation as a leader in research.

Ray Bugno’s loyalty, integrity, and dedication to Ohio State have made an exceptional model for others to follow. Ohio State is proud to present him with the Distinguished Service Award as an expression of the University’s sincere appreciation.
Recipients of Honors

Eugene C. D'Angelo, Jr.
Distinguished Service Award

Gene D'Angelo began his broadcasting career with the Taft Broadcasting Company as a member of the local sales team for WTVN-AM. After only five years at the station, D'Angelo had earned the title of general manager. In the five years that followed, his positions at Taft included vice president of Taft Broadcasting Company, vice president of the Buffalo division, and general manager of WGR-TV in Buffalo.

By 1972, D'Angelo had joined the WBNS stations as executive vice president of broadcast operations, chief operating officer, and general manager for television and radio. The owners of the WBNS stations named him president of broadcast operations in 1978. Under D'Angelo’s leadership, WBNS-TV continues to lead in state-of-the-art broadcasting.

D'Angelo is a community leader who has represented Columbus internationally. In 1985, he was appointed by President Reagan to the Christopher Columbus Quincentenary Jubilee Commission. He has been instrumental in “sister city” agreements between Columbus and Genoa; the state of Ohio and the region of Liguria, Italy; and The Ohio State University and the University of Genoa and has recently been honored with the Italian government’s top civilian award.

D'Angelo serves as a master representative of the arts in central Ohio. He is a former music major and marching band member at Ohio State and was most active in the early stages of the TBDBITL Alumni Association, serving on its first board of directors. He continues to assist the marching band, as well as serving on the Advisory Committee of the School of Music and School of Journalism. Currently, D'Angelo is chairman of the board of the Columbus Association for the Performing Arts (CAPA).

The local 1992 Christopher Columbus Commission, EXPO 92, and AmeriFlora '92 are underway thanks to his encouragement, fostering, and urging.

Ohio State is grateful for his tireless efforts and many years of dedication to the University and is proud to present him the Distinguished Service Award.

Robert L. Evans
Distinguished Service Award

When a friend offered Bob Evans an opportunity to enter the restaurant business in 1944, Evans took it. Although soon afterward Evans was drafted into the Army, and as soon as he returned from the service in 1946, he continued to operate this restaurant, which seated 12.

Evans was dissatisfied with the choice of sausage available, so he kept experimenting with spices in his own homemade sausage until he liked it himself. A lot of other people liked it too. By 1964, Evans had opened three sausage-making plants and the demand for his sausage continued to grow. Today, Bob Evans' Farms, Inc., is considered the leader in the sausage industry throughout Ohio, and in most of Michigan, northern Indiana, and the Chicago area, and his restaurants continue to expand.

The success of Bob Evans goes far beyond that of agriculturalist and restaurant owner. He has generously given of his time, talents, and financial support to 4-H and the College of Agriculture at Ohio State. Evans promotes 4-H conservation and natural resources education by sponsoring conservation education books to 4-H members and leaders. He is noted in Cooperative Extension Service for his quote, "The only thing better than sausage is 4-H.”

Evans is a strong supporter of youth and education. He sponsors a scholarship each year to a deserving 4-H member entering Ohio State to study natural resources. He is also a supporter of the Food Industry Center at Ohio State, the College of Agriculture, OARDC, the Ohio Cooperative Extension Service, as well as serving on the Ohio Board of Regents. He has promoted educational research in swine production, beef production, and horse production and management. The volunteer time Evans has spent with young people and the influence he has had on their future is truly immeasurable.

In recognition of Bob Evans' commitment to The Ohio State University and to the education of students, the University is proud to present him with the Distinguished Service Award.
Recipients of Honors

Robert W. Wagner
Distinguished Service Award

A dedicated artist-teacher-scholar, Robert W. Wagner is internationally known as an authority in the field of cinematography and has served Ohio State for over 38 years.

Wagner came to Ohio State in 1946 as a professor of photography. In 1958-59, he left to become head of the Department of Cinema at the University of Southern California. By 1960, Wagner returned to Ohio State to become director of the Motion Picture Division, Department of Photography, then chairperson of the department, and later director of graduate studies. From 1976-84, he held simultaneous professorships in the Department of Photography and Cinema, the Department of Communication, and the Division of Educational Foundations and Research. Since his retirement in 1984, he continues to contribute to Ohio State as a professor emeritus.

Wagner is one of the most distinguished individuals in the field of cinema, illustrated by his being a major American resource person for other nations' film makers and scholars. He has written several books and edited others, including articles for the Encyclopaedia Britannica and the International Encyclopedia of Education. He has written numerous articles on the uses, techniques, and history of cinema and television and has written and produced a number of film, radio, and TV works. As an internationally recognized scholar, Wagner is universally acclaimed as a leader of the professional organizations in his field. He has brought great honor and distinction to the Department of Photography and Cinema and the reputation of The Ohio State University.

During his tenure at Ohio State, Professor Wagner has won many awards and honors. He continues to serve Ohio State by appearances as a lecturer, as well as advising students and serving on graduate dissertation committees. Wagner also remains active in the American Film Institute and the University Film and Video Association. Ohio State welcomes the opportunity to honor him for his distinguished and productive career.

Eva Donelson Wilson
Distinguished Service Award

Eva Wilson is one of the faculty members whose contributions to Ohio State have brought considerable acclaim to the University.

As a well-known nutritionist, Wilson taught at Ohio State from 1946-48 and from 1960-72. After serving five years as associate chairperson for the Department of Home Economics at the OARDC, she accepted an invitation to join the College of Agriculture and Home Economics team (USAID) on the campus of the Escola Superior de Agricultura at the University of Sao Paulo in Piracicaba, Brazil.

For more than 10 years, Wilson lived and worked in Brazil assisting the USAID program to establish and strengthen a department of home economics program at the University in Sao Paulo. Prior to Wilson's arrival in Piracicaba, no academically based home economics programs existed in Brazil. She recruited several Brazilian women to complete graduate degrees in selected areas of home economics at Ohio State. Some of these women now have leadership roles at other universities in Brazil. All of the courses, curricula, and administrative framework for the program in home economics were developed and put in place under the supervision and dedicated persuasiveness of Eva Wilson. At present, she is regarded as chief among the individuals who have had a major impact on the content and direction of the progress of home economics education throughout Brazil.

Wilson has been an inspiration to students and faculty members. Her patience, persistence, and dedication have had a major influence on home economics across the globe, as well as at Ohio State. The University is pleased to present her with the Distinguished Service Award in recognition of her many years of unselfish devotion to Ohio State and the advancement of the international scope in the field of home economics.

The Academic Costume

The colorful ceremonies of The Ohio State University Commencements derive from practices originating in the Middle Ages. When European universities were taking form in the 12th and 13th centuries, the scholars were usually clerics, and consequently they adopted costumes similar to those of their monastic orders. Cold halls and drafty buildings called for caps and floor-length capes with attached hoods, and the sobering influence of the church probably influenced the staid character of the caps and gowns.

As the control of the universities gradually passed from the church, some aspects of the costumes took on brighter hues. Old prints and engravings, however, reveal a strong similarity between the regalia worn in early universities and that of the present day.

In light of our nation's English heritage, academic costume has been in use in the United States since colonial times. To establish a standard of uniformity in regard to the practice, an intercollegiate commission was formed to prepare a code for caps, gowns, and hoods that has since been adopted by all academic institutions.

Originally round, the shape of the cap is now the familiar mortarboard square—a shape which, according to ballad folklore, resembles a scholar's book. Legend also has it that the privilege of wearing a cap was the initial right of a freed Roman slave; the academic cap, therefore, has become a sign of the freedom of scholarship. The flowing gown has become symbolic of the democracy of scholarship for it covers any dress that might indicate rank or social status. The hood, reserved at The Ohio State University for those receiving doctoral degrees, not only indicates the type of degree, but also is lined with the official colors of the University.

The Gown

Bachelor. Black, full cut with long pointed sleeves.

Master. Black, long or short sleeves with a re-shaped panel extended for each sleeve.

Doctor. Black with velvet panels on front of gown and three velvet bars on each sleeve. Color of the velvet may be black or distinctive of the field of study.

The Hood

Bachelor. Three feet long with a two-inch-wide velvet edging.*

Master. Three and one-half feet long with a three-inch-wide velvet edging.*

Doctor. Four feet in length with a five-inch-wide velvet edging and panel at the sides.

*Not usually worn by candidates for a degree.

The lining of all hoods, which is folded out, bears the official colors of the institution granting the degree. The color of the velvet indicates the field of study:

- Dentistry: Lilac
- Law: Purple
- Medicine: Green
- Musical Arts: Pink
- Optometry: Sea-foam Green
- Pharmacy: Olive Green
- Philosophy: Dark Blue
- Veterinary Medicine: Gray

Cap and Tassel

Candidates for degrees at The Ohio State University wear the black mortarboard with a tassel whose color is distinctive of the degree being received. The tassel colors are as follows:

Graduate School: Black

- College of the Arts (B.A., B.S.I.D.) (Others): White
- School of Music (B.A.) (Others): Brown

College of Biological Sciences: White
